

Call for Participants and Applications
Muti-methods in M&A Research Workshop
Sponsored by: Research Methods Community and Corporate Strategy Interest Group
Saturday, September 17, 2016, 9 a.m. – 12 p.m.

Scholars interested in the antecedents, integration processes and consequences of mergers and acquisitions rely on a wide array of traditional research methods ranging from large-sample studies employing regression analysis to case studies. However, this panel of active scholars will present state-of-the-art methods in M&A research that complement these traditional methods, allowing our field to gain new insights on well-studied issues and to ask new questions about M&A.

Confirmed roundtable discussion leaders include:

- Kim Ellis, Florida Atlantic University
- John Haleblian, University of California, Riverside
- Gerry McNamara, Michigan State University
- Karen Schnatterly, University of Missouri
- Mario Schijven, University of Illinois, Urbana-Champaign
- Libby Weber, University of California, Irvine

Schedule

9:00 am – 10:00 am: Multi-methods in M&A panel
Everyone is welcome!

If you are interested in the antecedents, integration processes and consequences of mergers and acquisitions and would like to learn more about state-of-the-art methods in M&A research, please plan to attend our interactive Multi-methods in M&A panel on Sunday, September 17th, from 9:00 – to 10:00 am. The panelists will examine new approaches to M&A research, examine the types of problems that can be addressed using these methods and discuss interesting problems in the M&A space that currently lack appropriate methods in an effort to allow our field to gain new insights on well-studied issues and to ask new questions.

10:00 – 12:00: Roundtable workshop
Invited proposals and working papers only
Deadline for Application: August 12, 2016

In the roundtable workshop, several M&A scholars will discuss research proposals or working papers in small groups. Leading M&A researchers will read the papers and proposals prior to the session and come with specific comments for the participants. Doctoral students and junior faculty are especially encouraged to apply.
